

What is Jade Helm 15?

By Patrick Wyatt

Officially, Jade Helm 15 is the name given to a massive military training exercise scheduled to take place across several US states starting July 15. Some are claiming that the start date has been moved up to June 15. Whichever, the exercise is scheduled to conclude on September 15. The impetus for this operation, we're told, is that Special Forces and supporting units need this training to help prepare for future overseas missions.

States officially involved are Southern California, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and Texas, with southern California, Utah and Texas being designated hostile areas for purposes of this exercise. It's been reported that Colorado has been removed from the exercise boundaries though current activities there indicate otherwise. "Raider Focus," the largest war game in Colorado since WW II, is being conducted right now.

It's also been reported that many other states are unofficially part of Jade Helm 15.

The type of training will involve inserting Special Forces teams into unfamiliar areas (code for civilian-populated areas) for the purpose of enemy leadership extraction and detainment. Or in real world operations, possibly killing those high priority targets.

This type of training takes place overnight, often via helicopter though not exclusively. We're also told that some troops will be practicing "blending in" in some areas; seeing if they can operate in an information-gathering capacity without being noticed by the local citizenry.

Federal, state and local law enforcement will be involved in various capacities.

I'll admit that I'm a bit jaded about the stated rationale for Jade Helm 15. Yes, I question the honesty, integrity and motivations of the same government that brought us Fast and Furious, The Arab Spring, Benghazi, and the IRS targeting of Christian and conservative groups. The same liars who continually tell us how well our dying economy is doing.

The mainstream media assures us there's nothing to be concerned about Jade Helm 15. If you believe anything else, you're a conspiracy theorist. Even Fox News will tell you that. The term "conspiracy theory" was coined by the CIA in 1967 to ridicule those who question or disagree with government policy. It's an effective psychological operations tool that avoids discussion of a given issue by discrediting the dissenter by insinuation.

Indeed, your mind is expected to shut down at the mention of "conspiracy theory." With a chuckle and head shake you're supposed to go back to whatever self-indulgence keeps you preoccupied. For illusions' sake, please don't think on your own.

Let the newscasters, broadcasters and spin masters do your thinking for you; the same people who told you that Barry Soetoro, aka Barack Hussein Obama, was the chosen one for president. The very collective entity that covers for him and his destroying agenda.

Let's do a logic check.

Training on US soil amongst the civilian population simulates what potential foreign battlefield? The Middle East? Afghanistan? No, not even remotely. How about Russia or North Korea? Nope. Keep in mind that it's a primary military doctrine; train in the closest conditions to which you'll fight.

An example of this comes from past US efforts in Iraq. US forces going into Iraq would first train in northern Kuwait at Camp Buehring to acclimate to the climate and terrain before heading north. I'll also note that the type of training Jade Helm 15 is supposed to supply has been amply provided by the last 12 years in Iraq and Afghanistan. At the height of our activities there, no such training was conducted in civilian areas of the US. Why now?

So what battlefield do US towns and cities best simulate? US towns and cities.

Do US military personnel need practice in "blending in" in their own country? One wouldn't think so. But foreign troops, who'll also be participating in Jade Helm 15, do.

Are they blending in temporarily or are they being pre-positioned for something other than just a military training exercise?

Another related question. If you train like you'll fight, in what overseas operation will another nation's local and national law enforcement aid our troops? Such elements are integral to Jade Helm 15, how will that component be filled in a foreign, hostile country? The obvious answer is, it couldn't be. Big red flag.

Jade Helm 15 is not training designed to engage another military force, its practice to control a civilian population and eliminate opposition. The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) is heavily involved.

Did you know that the former head of East Germany's Stasi, Markus Wolf, was paid millions of dollars to set up the organizational structure of DHS? Stasi has been described as one of the most effective and repressive intelligence and secret police agencies to have ever existed.

What a foundation to build on.

The American public has been and is being conditioned to accept military equipment and personnel on our streets, "for our own good." The distinction between law enforcement and military is rapidly becoming irrelevant.

Practically speaking, when you're on the receiving end it doesn't matter what uniform is being worn; body armor is body armor, Armored Personnel Carriers (APCs) are APCs and weapons are weapons.

Contrary to the perception that Jade Helm 15 is the start of a broad-ranging military exercise in CONUS (CONTinental United States), I submit to you that it is not a start, but a continuation, possibly the culmination, of years of planning, logistics and training. Dare we ask, toward what end?

In recent years the US military has been drastically downsized, demoralized and spread thin across the globe; bogged down and bled in Muslim countries with no will or strategy for victory. Barry's entrenched regime has purged over 270 top officers that they didn't trust to violate their oath to defend the constitution, part of the ongoing effort to eliminate Christianity, morality and honor from the ranks of the Armed Forces.

What's wanted are blindly obedient order-takers, unrestrained by ethics.

How bad have things gotten? Consider that a Muslim Jihadist captured on the battlefield, a terrorist, is sent to Guantanamo Bay. There he's provided a Quran, issued a prayer rug, can pray towards Mecca five times a day, is served Halal (Muslim approved and prepared) food, has a library of Muslim literature and videos at his disposal, and Muslim clerics to preach to him in Arabic.

These barbarians are not only allowed to continue to practice the false religion that demands they kill infidels, (which is exactly what they were doing to get them sent there in the first place), they are encouraged to do so, and at US taxpayer expense.

Contrast this to Marine Lance Corporal Monifa Sterling, who was court-martialed for refusing to remove a modified Bible verse from her computer. The verse read, “No weapon formed against me shall prosper” paraphrased from Isaiah 54:17. You read that right. In Barry’s world, the ~~scientific~~ cult of Islam is acceptable but don’t let a Marine have a Bible verse on her computer.

Know why? The military court determined that the Bible verse in question “could easily be seen as contrary to good order and discipline.” Really. But mandating that homosexuals must be allowed in the Armed Forces, even favored, isn’t contrary to good order and discipline?

Oh, how our wickedness cries out for God’s judgment!

Meanwhile various agencies under DHS jurisdiction have been busily arming and training.

For what?

To whom are the over 2 billion rounds of ammo for? What is the domestic need for 2700 armored personnel carriers? Why the purchase of “no hesitation” targets that look like every day American citizens?

Remember what Barry said as a presidential candidate in 2008?

“We cannot continue to rely only on our military in order to achieve the national security objectives that we’ve set. We’ve got to have a civilian national security force that’s just as powerful, just as strong, just as well-funded.”

What national security objectives that he’s set can’t our military be trusted to accomplish? I’ll remind you, a civilian national security force doesn’t fight foreign powers. They operate at home. Just like the Stasi.

Is it coincidence that five Walmarts in the Jade Helm 15 area of operations have shut down due to “plumbing problems?” No work permits have been applied for, no plumbing contractors have been contacted for bids. These reported six month closings are estimated to cost Walmart over one hundred million dollars.

You and I both have witnessed entire large store renovations take place without the store ever closing.

Hypothetically speaking, these closed Walmarts would make excellent military supply points, detainee processing centers, even detention facilities, during a martial law declaration.

By all indications, something big is being anticipated. Military exercises of unprecedented scope and frequency are taking place worldwide. Operation Maple Resolve, similar to Jade Helm 15, recently ran in Canada from April 20 to May 23. NATO in Europe is staging drills and positioning assets.

Russia appears to be accelerating toward war preparation with multiple war game exercises, including nuclear. China and Russia are conducting first ever joint naval exercises in the Mediterranean Sea. In the South China Sea, China is militarizing islands it’s annexed in a disputed area.

Nations are on edge.

Many financial disasters take place in the late summer/early fall time-frame. Economists understand this cycle but are puzzled as to the “why”. If you’d like a Bible-based explanation, I suggest you check out Jonathan Cahn’s “Mystery of the Shemitah” for reference.

Many in law enforcement and the military are in the dark about Jade Helm 15. Military training is by nature compartmentalized. You only know what you need to know. Most who are participating view it as another training exercise; a chance to practice with equipment and hone tactics without anyone actually shooting at you.

What happens if Jade Helm 15 goes live? Then those in uniform have an individual decision to make; kill and enslave their fellow citizens on the orders of tyrants or honor their oaths of duty and fight that tyranny alongside their fellow citizens.

One thing is for sure, Jade Helm 15 is putting people and assets in place. Whatever might be coming is not an accident or miscalculation. It's planned. Keep that in mind. Nothing at this level occurs by chance. "In politics, nothing happens by accident. If it happens, you can bet it was planned that way." —Franklin D. Roosevelt Possible scenarios include a worldwide economic collapse followed by martial law. A false flag attack or series of attacks on US soil to justify martial law. Or World War III. Whatever it is, the plans are set.

If martial law is the desired outcome, what would it entail? First and foremost, it signals the end of life and freedom as you know it. Some aspects of martial law includes curfew, travel restrictions, food and fuel rationing, forced relocation, confiscation of firearms and "excess" food and communications such as phone service and the internet terminated.

Certainly detaining declared enemies of the state would be of primary importance; exactly what Jade Helm 15 is all about. With the massive surveillance state we live under, the lists are made. You should know by now who the undesirables are.

You may be thinking, I'll just bury my guns and hide my food. Friend, they'll be coming for you.

"Is life so dear, or peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God!" – Patrick Henry

Maybe nothing of consequence will happen. Maybe late summer passes into fall and life as we know it stumbles on. We'll find out soon enough. Rest assured though, the days are coming.

Are you ready? First, foremost and forever, be right with God. Commit or recommit your life to Him right now as your soul is stirred. You will need His strength and peace for what lies ahead.

Seek the Lord for discernment on what you should do. Not half-heartedly or with scraps of commitment. Seek Him earnestly with fear and trembling, as befits the King of Glory.

So what is Jade Helm 15? Is it conspiracy or conspiracy theory?

The individual is handicapped, by coming face-to-face, with a conspiracy so monstrous, he cannot believe it exists. The American mind, simply has not come to a realization of the evil, which has been introduced into our midst . . . It rejects even the assumption that human creatures could espouse a philosophy, which must ultimately destroy all that is good and decent. —FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, 1956
